

Information on copyright

The promotional material related to the SI includes a set of graphics files in JPG and PNG format. They can be downloaded from this web site in electronic form.

They are copyrighted to the BIPM, which therefore holds the exclusive rights to them.

They are provided to you as promotional material for non-commercial use only, to help you inform your stakeholders about the SI.

On behalf of the BIPM, you are hereby authorized to distribute this material to your stakeholders in electronic or printed form, subject to the conditions on this copyright page.

Please note, however, that as the developers hold the economic and moral rights to this material (including all photos, logos, emblems, publications or any other creations), these rights are vested in the BIPM and are internationally protected.

Consequently, commercial third parties may not re-brand or sell copies of this material, or any portions of it, without the prior written permission of the BIPM.